JASON MURRAY FIRST TEAM MANAGER

We are looking forward to the first home game of the season at the Techsoc as Atlético.

Up against Stevenage who will be full of confidence after cruising to a 5-0 opening day win.

We will be expecting a much better showing than last week where in truth we never got going until falling 2-0 behind.

The absentee's from the squad in the first few weeks is no excuse as we do feel this summer we have built strength in depth we just simply didn't perform.

The beauty of football is that games come thick and fast so there's always the opportunity to put things right just around the corner.

CLUB SPONSOR-TECHSOC

The club is forever grateful for the support of Technology and Society, the home of author and speaker Curtis Frye. Curtis and his company began their sponsorship of the club at the start of the 2022/23 season. His continued and growing support is one of the reasons why the club is still here today. I'm proud to announce that, through my company Technology and Society, my wife Ginny and I will sponsor women's football club Atlético London for the 2025/26 season.

New seasons bring new hope, this time with a rebranding and the goal of bouncing straight back up to the National League from the Eastern Region Women's Football League. Offseason continuity we lacked last time around meant recruiting, development, and preseason preparation bodes well for our performance.

Atlético London's makeup mirrors the diverse nature of East London, with players from all backgrounds choosing to play with us even though they drew significant interest from higher-placed clubs.

In addition to our shirt sponsorship, Atléti play their home matches at The techsoc.com Stadium. We secured the naming rights to the ground from Redbridge FC, the leaseholders of the former Oakside Stadium, in exchange for help with Redbridge's capital campaign to install a 3G pitch. The new pitch provides a durable, all-weather surface so Redbridge, Atléti, other clubs, and the community have a place to play. Providing shared value, whether through the technical writing and training I create or through various sponsorships in the arts and sport, is central to the philosophy behind Technology and Society.

Thanks to the club, backroom staff, and players for welcoming us back. I'll be at the stadium for the Stevenage match and Ginny will join me for our away match at Hutton and home again for Haringey Borough. We can't wait to renew our acquaintance with London and see the club in action.

Curt

Billy Robinson General Manager

Firstly, I'd like to welcome everyone to The techsoc.com Stadium for Atlético London's first ever home fixture.

After an exciting few weeks of launching our new identity and kit, it feels amazing to finally be home and kick start our home campaign in front of you all.

Despite the opening day fixture not going how we wanted, the reaction within the group to right their wrongs has been nothing short of incredible. Thanks to the exceptional characters within the squad, and our captains group, Juliet, Alex and Jordan, morale has quickly bounced back. They embody the mantra to stay strong, stay focused, never give up, always give it all you can.

Jason has addressed his concerns after week 1 and made the necessary changes as we look to push forward against strong opposition.

We're well aware of a team like Stevenage's quality, as we've seen it over the past few seasons, whereas on the other hand there is a lot still to be seen from Atlético; and with holidays, and injuries plaguing Jason's selection this early in the season, the only way is up and that's exactly the plan.

I'd also like to welcome Curtis Frye, owner of Techsoc.com, our front office shirt sponsor, who has flown over from Oregon for our inaugural home fixture. A big thank you to Curt and Ginny for their incredible support of the club.

Finally, this week we also said goodbye to our First Team Coach, Ellis Marsh, who departs on a huge opportunity in Sri Lanka. On behalf of the club, I would like to express our absolute gratitude for everything Ellis has done for us, he knows the door is always open to him.

GARETH EDWARDS VICE CHAIR

A new season begins, and brings with it a new identity - one we couldn't be prouder to wear. It's great to be back here at the Techsoc.com stadium for a fresh season of football.

With a squad that mixes old and new faces, we're hopeful of making this ground a place teams fear to come this year. There's some teams in this league that we've played before, and some fresh faces to us there as well, which makes things doubly interesting.

Stevenage are a team we know well, although the number of times we have played each other recently has been limited. They'll be a tough challenge today as they're strong and well-organised. We're hopeful of a good result, however, to begin our home games positively.

Whatever happens, we hope both sides - and you the fans - have a good day.
